

Have you left an abusive relationship?

The Doncaster Survivor Liaison Service runs weekly groups in the community and online for survivors of domestic abuse.

The Survivor Liaison Service is a service for survivors who are no longer with the person who harmed them or has any ongoing criminal justice system action and those who are not working with another domestic abuse professional. We can provide ongoing emotion support after abuse and support for those who may be navigating the Family Courts

The peer-led support groups aim to bring survivors with lived experience of domestic abuse together to help inspire and empower each other in living a safe life free from abuse. Groups are available for women only, men only and members of the LGBTQ+ community. Peer one-to-one support is also available through the Survivor Liaison Service.

If you would like to find out more information about support groups or feel that you would benefit from the support of a survivor liaison worker more information can be found at:
