

Giving birth in North West London

In North West London there are 6 hospitals where you can give birth

Chelsea and Westminster Hospital

Address: 369 Fulham Road, London, SW10 9NH

Buses: 14, 211, 328, 414, C3, N31

Stations: Earls Court, Fulham Broadway, Gloucester Road, South Kensington

In North West London there are 6 hospitals where you can give birth

Hillingdon Hospital

Address: Pield Heath Road, Uxbridge, Middlesex, UB8 3NN

Buses: U1, U2, U3, U4, U5, U7, 975 – Wheelchair accessible mobility bus. (Tuesdays only)

Stations: Uxbridge

In North West London there are 6 hospitals where you can give birth

Northwick Park Hospital

Address: Watford Road, Harrow, Middlesex, HA1 3UJ

Buses: 114, 182, 183, 186, 223, H9, H10, H14, H18, H19, N18

Stations: Northwick Park, Kenton

In North West London there are 6 hospitals where you can give birth

Queen Charlotte's and Chelsea Hospital

Address: 150 Du Cane Road, London, W12 0HS

Buses: 7, 70, 72, 95, 220, 272, 283, N7

Stations: East Acton

In North West London there are 6 hospitals where you can give birth

St Mary's Hospital

Address: Praed Street, London, W2 1NY

Buses: 7, 23, 27, 36, 46, 205, 332, 436, N7, N205

Stations: Paddington

In North West London there are 6 hospitals where you can give birth

West Middlesex University Hospital

Address: Twickenham Road, Isleworth, Middlesex, TW7 6AF

Buses: 110, 117, 235, 237, 267, 481, H28, H37, N9

Stations: Isleworth, Syon Lane
These stations do not have wheelchair access.

To discuss where you would like to give birth, please talk to your GP.

If your first choice maternity unit is fully booked, we will contact you to help you book at another unit.

At hospital most women who give birth will be looked after by midwives.

Some women may need extra care and they will be cared for by doctors.

You can also choose to give birth at home. A midwife would come to your home to help with the birth.

The care you get before giving birth is called ‘Antenatal Care.’

Antenatal Care is carried out close to where you live in:

Hospitals

Children’s centres

Health centres

What our hospitals are like

We have safe and comfortable rooms for you to give birth in.

All our maternity units also have birthing pools.

Some women need extra support and they may give birth on one of the wards.

Women may have different health needs.

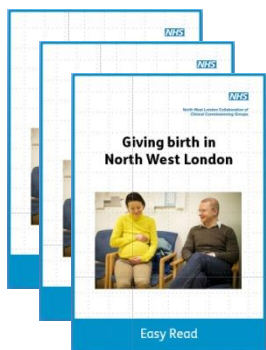

Hospitals in North West London have a lot of experience helping women with different health needs give birth.

If you have a health need or condition which you are worried about please talk to your GP about which hospital will be best for you.

More information

We can send you more copies of this leaflet.

We can send you this leaflet in other languages like Punjabi, Tamil, Urdu, Polish, Arabic and Somali.

If you would like more information about this please call 0800 881 5209.

North West London Collaboration of Clinical Commissioning Groups

This leaflet was made for the group of doctors in North West London.

Easy words by The Advocacy Project.
Photos by Photosymbols.