

Your GP Practice is Taking Part in OpenSAFELY

The NHS has asked all GP practices to share pseudonymised health information with the secure OpenSAFELY research platform.

This helps approved researchers study health data to improve NHS care and services. Your personal details, like your name or address, are not shared.

Strict legal and security safeguards protect your information. GP practices are legally required to do this under the Health and Social Care Act.

Want to know more? Read our full Privacy Notice on our website or visit:

www.opensafely.org