

Teaching practice

The practice is a teaching practice and occasionally trainee GPs or Student Nurses may, as part of their training, be required to sit in with their trainer GP/Nurse during consultations with patients.

You will always be asked if you consent to this prior to your consultation. If you do not consent, the trainee GP/Nurse will not sit in on your consultation.

Patients' rights and responsibilities

- You have a right to express a preference to be seen by a particular GP. This will be recorded on our clinical system and, where possible, you will be allocated appointments with that clinician. All patients will be assigned to a GP upon registration, but this does not mean you have to see this GP.
- You may also be offered a health check when you join the practice for the first time.
- You have the right to be treated with courtesy, dignity and respect.
- It is your responsibility to extend the same courtesy and politeness to the practice team.
- It is your responsibility not to misuse appointments that may be required for other patients.
- It is your responsibility to inform us in advance if you are unable to keep your appointment or are going to be late.
- You have the right to request a home visit if your illness or infirmity renders you housebound.
- It is your responsibility not to request a home visit unless it is strictly medically necessary.
- Your doctor has both the right and responsibility to make a final decision whether a home visit will be made.
- It is your responsibility to inform us about past illnesses, medication and hospital admissions
